New principal at Tularcitos School. . .

How Thomas Williams sees his job

By PAT GRIFFITH

The absolutely first, split-second impression one has upon meeting the new principal of Tularcitos School is something like "wow—he's just about half the size of Gus."

Not that Thomas Williams is all that small, but the imposing physical presence of his pro-football-sized predecessor is a memory hard to shake.

Physical comparisons, are, of course, meaningless, and it takes only a few minutes of conversation for other, more significant impressions to form.

Williams speaks with the quiet assurance of a man who knows what he's doing. He is calm, candid and open to questions.

Williams comes here from Tracy, where he was principal of a "continuous progress" school with more than 600 students. The 21 teachers on his staff there were divided into seven teams, and classes were called by Greek letters—kappa, delta, beta, gamma, etc.—rather than the traditional first grade, second grade sequence.

"You know," he mused, "the safest thing for a principal is to have 16 classrooms with 25 children in each class, all learning prescribed things at set times. It's a very secure feeling, it runs well, and it looks beautiful to the public.

"Then just as soon as you start adapting and adjusting to individual needs, the headaches and problems start. We went to schools that were designed for the convenience of teachers and principals. Today schools are for children, which means that sometimes we're upset and pulling our hair."

CONSOLIDATION

In coming to Tularcitos, which combines traditional grade distinctions with heavy emphasis on individualized instruction, Williams sees his role initially as one of consolidation and, perhaps, conciliation.

"I plan to pick up the good programs and effective ideas that Mr. Gustafson developed. As far as I know, the teachers have been involved in much of the planning, and we'll continue right on with their programs.

"We'll be evaluating everything that has been done," Williams continued, "and a few of my ideas will be brought in, too.

"I see my job as maybe tying things together a little more, writing down things on paper so we have a better idea of what's happening. I think perhaps this is a time for consolidation, for pulling things together."

Williams said he feels that Gustafson accomplished "a great deal along the road to individual instruction.

"There's a difference," he added, "between a person who starts out to build something new and the person who comes in and has to take it from one point to another. Any man who burns through a school with new ideas, tears out walls and does all that is going to make enemies. It's inevitable.

"After this initial period, you need to smooth things out and tie them all together. And it may be good to have someone new, like myself, come in at this point.

"I'll certainly encourage parents to come in and ask questions and talk with me and observe in classes. I'll never turn a parent away or shut him off.

"I look forward to talking to parents and getting their ideas. I think they'll find I'm the kind of person who's above board in what I do and listens to what they say."

CONTINUE TWO SHIFTS

Fall schedules and classroom groupings were completed before Gustafson left, and Williams will leave it as planned. Tularcitos will again have two shifts, with half the school arriving at 8:45 a.m. and the other half at 10:45 a.m.

"This is a very good way to give children more individual teacher attention," Williams commented. "It will be interesting to see how we can develop this. It has a lot of merit."

If he is successful in finding a home near the Village, Williams will have a son and daughter in Tularcitos and two older sons in Middle School. He is looking forward to becoming part of the community, although he has promised his family that he won't become quite as heavily immersed in outside activities as he was in Tracy, where he was active in many ogranizations and just completed a stint as director of a YMCA day camp.

"For the first year or two, I'm going to have to spend most of my time right here with the school," he said firmly. "I'll have a lot to learn and do right here."

"Still," he added with a smile, "I'm a naturally social person. I love a good Kiwanis meeting. All my activities have been enjoyable. But the trouble is I start having meetings five and six nights a week, and then my family suffers..."

Williams likes to get up early, about 5 a.m., and be out jogging by 5:30 a.m. "The only problem with that," he grinned, "is that by 9:30 at night I'm sleepy."

Williams said he was attracted to the Carmel school district by the "high degree of professionalism" and the opportunity to work with Supt. of Schools Harris Taylor.

"There is a very good environment here for helping children. I'm looking forward to working with everyone."

DR. RICHARD K. HAWKINS, new Director of Pupil Personnel Services for the Carmel School District, finds time to relax in his Carmel Valley home and read to his two-year-old daughter, Alyssa. As a child psychologist and counselor, Dr. Hawkins will be looking at the total "learning environment" in classrooms, as well as assisting with specific learning problems.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I was in Carmel Valley the last week of July and purchased a copy of the July 29 issue of the Outlook. Since I am a firm believer in Letters to the Editor, I was very interested in the letter sent to you by a long list of young people. I hope that they will stick together and fight this thing called progress, or development, or the good of the community, which is basicly decay of living, life decay.

We have lost in Palmdale. We are in the "path of progress," we are undergoing "development," which is all "for the good of the community." A couple of years ago we suddenly found that we were going to have an International, Intercontinental Airport! Big Deal! BIg Surprise! (Actually the L.A. planners have had this on the books since 1954.) 17,000 acres under L.A. control. Palmdale officials could annex it but that wouldn't fit in with the payoff. One hundred to 200 million passengers in and out per year by 1980. Money! Business! Progress! Good of the community! Using the first figure (100 million) that is 11,301 people in and out of the Valley per hour, or 188 per minute. With 350 people per plane (DC10 ro L1011) we will have 32 planes per hour. The big ones. One every 2 minutes. These planes scream louder than a two ton shell from a cannon.

We have 350 real estate operators. Land is 10 to 30 thousand dollars per acre. And with the airport 7 years away. At least 25 thousand of the 37 thousand expected employees will earn less than $6,000. They won't live on the field but in Palmdale. In mobile homes. Already we have rezoned for about 2,000 spaces and more are granted at each Council meeting...This could go on: 2 kids per mobile home, 55 new schools to start with, the profits from the Airport to L.A., housing and school costs to Palmdale. Noise, smog, congestion, crime. Our senator predicts the second largest city in California.

Once we were a quiet peaceful place like Carmel Valley.

If these young people—and others like them—would just realize that Senior Citizens feel very much as they do. They are put upon and stomped upon as much as are the young people. The Senior Citizens, some 40 million of them have the vote and the experience. The young people have strength, energy, ambition and the future. Working together for their mutual interests and needs, every political office in the country could be cleaned out and changed in 6 years. By the legal process of voting! So legal the 'System' can't fight it. No riots, no confrontations, no marches, no Isla Vista burnings, no killings. The possibilities for change, legally, by the young and the elders are limitless.

Let us hope these young people: Tania, Peter, Mindy and Ted and Linda, Laurie, Ronnie, Greg, Mac, Paul and all the others will be able to see and hold and develop the idea and prevent another Palmdale—even on a very small scale—in Carmel Valley, and all over the United States.

Sincerely,
Melvin Newcombe

Sir:

The airstrip controversy has reached a point of name-calling and heated confrontation, and requires, it seems to me, an immediate and total change of approach.

I submit that no airstrip of any kind is needed in the valley, or is compatible with its nature. The fact that in its 30 years of existence it has been largely neglected and ignored merely proves the point. The need for it is primarily in the eyes of the beholder, the developer. Such support as there is for it seems to reflect, unfortunately, our national trend toward self-punishment and self-destruction.

And how strange—this great concern for the developer's investment—along with total lack of concern for the investment of money, care, and love by all of us, the valley home owners!

Let those who wish to bring expanded commercial activity into our midst reflect upon the reasons for their coming to this valley in the first place. Why not a freeway through to Greenfield? Why not valley industries, or a continuous shopping area along the valley road? The developers are just lying in wait for any sign of increased traffic or population. Our 103 or more businesses, which outrun the need for them by several years, will have their members increased again. Is this the future we are all in favor of?

Very truly yours,
Jack J. Granoff

Dear Editor:

We would appreciate it if you would publish the enclosed letter (we have permission for publication), so that all your readership will be aware of what so many of our Carmel Valley visitors—who come here for peace and quiet—are saying, and doing. Thank you.

Very truly yours,
I. C. Howard
Chmn., Comm. for Peace and Quiet

Dear Committee:

Having visited my mother, Mrs. Walter Bowes, at her Via Contenta home many times, I am shocked by the dreadful plans of Mr. Hood.

It would be wicked to have a noisy commercial operation on that airfield and would completely change this atmosphere of the entire valley.

I have written the Hon. Willard Branson, and am enclosing a small check.($25.00). If there is any further way that my husband and I can help, please let us know.

We both pray you can stop Mr. Hood's plans. We have fought the commercialization of Diamond Head for ten years, so appreciate what you are up against. But, after reading your fact sheet, we feel you are well organized and are doing a fine job, and wish you complete success—not just because my mother lived in Carmel Valley, but because you have a lovely little village which should not be spoiled.

With warmest Aloha,

Lack of sewers precludes Village area apartments

The Monterey County Planning Commission ruled last week that apartments and other high-density development should be discouraged near the Carmel Valley Village until sewers are installed.

As a policy guideline, this could have the practical affect of delaying major construction in the Valley for years, with the exception of individual private homes.

The planning commissioners reached their decision in response to a request from County Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon for a policy ruling. Slimmon is considering an application from Don Koontz for a use permit to build 34 apartments on a 1.13 acre parcel on Ford Road, near the airport.

Both the Upper Valley Advisory Committee and the Planning Commission have recommended denial of the request because of its high density and potential traffic, sewage and drainage problems.

In discussing possible development of the property, which is zoned C1, Planning Director Edward W. De Mars said that many people have felt for a long time that the Village has a 35-acre surplus of commercial zoning, and that reclassification to multiple residential might be desireable. But if the area were rezoned, he said, the density should be much lower than what Koontz is requesting.

Commissioner Keith Evans of Carmel said he thinks many people would prefer to see it remain in a C1 zone, with little chance of being used, rather than allowing multiple residences.

"Under no circumstances would I want to see more than 10 units an acre there, and even that's too high,' Evans continued. "I want to see no apartment development there until they get a sewer system of some kind. Probably the best thing at the moment is to leave it in C1."

Evans added that if sewers are installed in the future, the Valley will face a "hard decision" because of the demand for increased density.

In turning down Koontz' request, the commission specified that the density in that area should not exceed four units per acre.

The commission also set Sept. 10 for a hearing on a proposal to prohibit the use of trailers or mobile homes as dwelling units from Highway 1 to a point three miles east of the Village.

It also formed a committee, composed of Dr. Edward P. Marcucci of Carmel Valley, Peter Cailotto of Salinas, Evans and Stutzman to review the Carmel Valley master plan as it applies to the lower valley.

Over 1,000 sign Peace and Quiet petitions

The Committee for Peace and Quiet reported yesterday that it has gathered more than 1,000 signatures on petitions opposing the expanded use of the Carmel Valley airport.

Committee members believe this is the greatest response ever registered on an issue concerning Carmel Valley.

The committee has also announced that financial contributions are being accepted, although the official fund drive has not yet begun. Contributions may be mailed to the Committee for Peace and Quiet, care of the Postmaster, Carmel Valley.

THE TOWN CRIER

Time is growing short to purchase tickets for $2 to benefit the Save the Cachagua Committee and—not incidentally—make you eligible to win a beautiful oil painting by Jack Swanson. The painting has been on display for several weeks now in the empty shop window at the end of the Post Office row. It's a Western masterpiece of a cattle drive, painted with the feeling and color that only Jack can convey. Tickets are across the street at the General Store, and also at the Thunderbird. All proceeds raised from the painting, which is valued at $2500, will go to support private engineering studies of alternate dam sites that would spare the scenic, unspoiled Cachagua Valley. Now's the time to buy a ticket, or five or ten. A month from now will be too late, for the painting, and possibly for Cachagua.

Never underestimate eagle-eyed readers of legal notices. A flurry of speculation was touched off last week when some dedicated anti-airport workers spotted a legal notice in a certain Monterey paper stating that one John McMahan of Carmel Valley was about to do business under the fictitious name of "Flight 505." A devious plot of Al Hood's? A hidden financial backer of airport development?

Welll. Not exactly. It seems that young John McMahan is business manager for a fledgling instrumental group that is trying to get off the ground as Flight 505. He has about as much to do with the Carmel Valley airport as the Jefferson Airplane. (No, Grandma, that's NOT the name of a new super-jet that can land in 1800 feet of runway.)

xxx

Speaking of airports, as who isn't, it may be more than coincidental that the movie "Airport" is flying high with the all-time attendance record at the Carmel Valley Cinema. The theater has been jammed nightly, and more than a few people have commented on the fact that an anti-airport group in the film is known as the Peace and Quiet Committee. Small world, and welcome to Carmel Valley.

Santos Minjares, operator of Martin's fruit stand, has done it again. His produce racked up an incredible total of 48 prize ribbons at the Monterey County Fair—31 for first place, 15 for 2nd and 12 for 3rd. He was sweepstakes winner in the fruit and pod vegetables, root and tuber vegetables class, third in vine crops and dedicuous fruits, and sweepstakes winner in the horticulture division in the section for fruit and pod vegetables.

Other big agricultural winners from the Valley were Russell T. Wolter, Julie Risdon, David Risdon, Glen Risdon, and Sue Schetter.

Several members of the very active Carmelo 4-H Club came home winners from the fair also. Getting high honors for cooking were Amy Brock with two first prizes, two seconds and a third; and Camille Stewart, who got two firsts and a second. In the food preservation category, Elizabeth Darch was the only winner from the Monterey Peninsula with three firsts, two seconds and two third-place awards.

Elizabeth and Laura Wilson received a joint first place award in the 4-H wildlife project competition.

Still more winners in the 4-H agriculture division were Michael Brock, with a first and third, Kris Darch with two firsts and a second, and Camille Stewart with a first and second.

KMST REPORTS—Tuesday, August 25, at 10:30 p.m. "Monterey Ecology Forum" Part I—"Our Water," with Dr. Lowell Adams, ecologist, and Paul Patchick, environmental geologist. This is the first in a series dealing with the problems of ecology today in the special setting of beautiful Monterey Peninsula.

Dr. Adams, university ecologist, will interview his first guest, Paul Patchick, who will discuss the new "Living Filter" concept for recycling community water and its benefits in preventing bay pollution, reclaiming water, increasing farm-crop production. Water recycling also reduces the need for a proposed third dam on the Carmel River.

In future programs, "Monterey Ecology Forum" will present personalities in the ecology scene—government officials, oceanographers, air pollution specialists, planners, engineers and businessmen.

For children who are deaf, school is a special experience

Photos by George T.C. Smith

HERE A COMBINATION of hand and sound is used as Joleen Lambert identifies an airplane in the book displayed by Mrs. John Snapp. Watching attentively are Rachel Snapp and Joleen's mother, Brenda Lambert.

For some very special children, summer doesn't mean absence from school. The locale may change, the face of their "teacher" may be different, but structured learning and drilling go on.

It must, for these children are deaf, and every day counts in trying to bridge the broad chasm between the silence that encompasses their private world and the sounds of life around them.

In recent weeks these pre-schoolers have met on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church in the Village. Sometimes a mother takes charge, sometimes a young deaf man, Tom Ahern, conducts the informal class.

Pictures on flash cards are held up.

"What is this?" asks a mother, enunciating clearly and holding up a picture of a fish.

Joleen Lambert of Jamesburg, a 2½-year-old charmer, stares and says slowly: "Fiiiish. Fiiiish."

The word comes clearly, firmly, with a beauty and a glory unrivaled by any symphony.

But there's time for only a quick smile of praise. There are more pictures, so many, many more, to try to identify. So very much to learn.

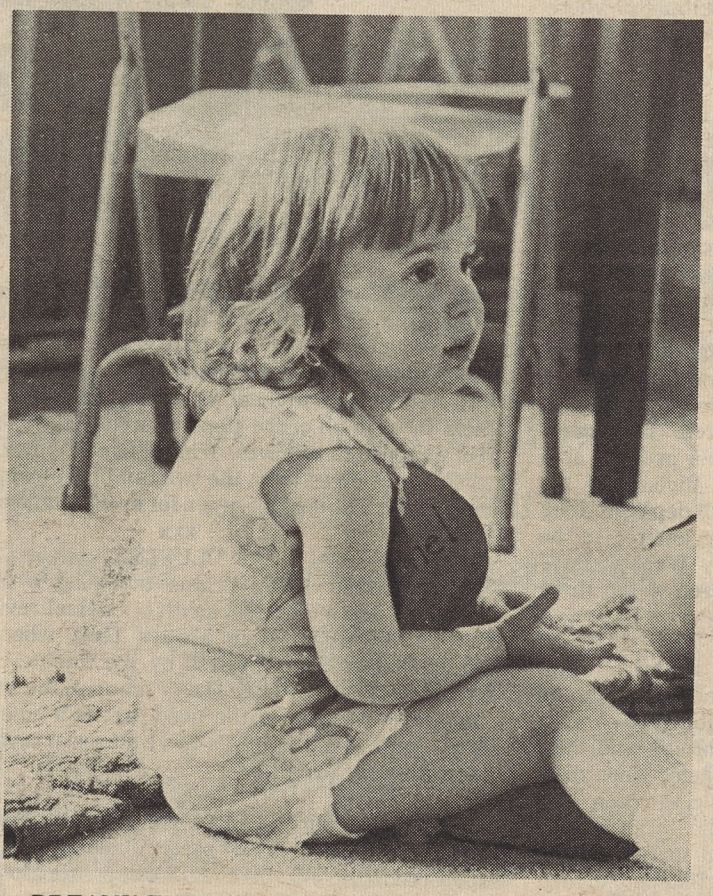
Seventeen children in Monterey County were enrolled in special classes for the deaf last year. Their regular teacher, Mrs. Lequita Watkins of Carmel, will resume classes at Fort Ord and in Salinas on Sept. 8.

The parents of these children have formed a Deaf Education And Family Guidance (DEAF Guidance) group which meets Tuesday evenings. Parents interested in the group may call 624-5068 or 242-3236 for information.

DEAF CHILDREN learn by playing, just as other children do. No words are needed to know that three-year-old Brian Prader of Salinas is having a great time with the Play-Doh. When training starts early, deaf children can learn to say individual words very clearly and eventually to speak in full, gramatically-correct sentences.

JOLEEN LAMBERT of Jamesburg watches the lip movements as she tries to form the sound. Here she's getting a little hand assistance also. At right, she purses her lips to say "whistle."

ALTO JEAN CANADA is the featured soloist in the concert by Nancy Ness Bowman's Opera Workshop in the Forest Theater at 2:00 next Sunday.



DREAMY-EYED Rachel Snapp, who lives at Fort Ord, is fascinated by pictures of animals being shown by her mother. Rachel, who has three older sisters, was born deaf because her mother had Rubella (German measles) when she was pregnant.

TAKE MAGIC POTIONS of a host and hostess talented and charming; honored guests...distingue; a view...unsurpassed; and combine the ingredients in a fragrant sun-drenched garden for the perfection of last Sunday's summer garden party given by Mr. and Mrs. James Dickie at their home on Story Road. The occasion gave them an opportunity to present their three out of town guests, Mrs. Minna Citron of New York and Dr. and Mrs. Abraham I. Melden of Irvine to a large gathering of friends. Dr. Melden is chairman of the Department of Philosophy at the University of California at Irvine. Mrs. Citron is an internationally known painter and graphic artist.

It was a privileged treat for the guests to view not only the works of Mrs. Citron but also those of their hostess, whose famous paintings and etchings are signed Jean Kellogg and their host who is a nationally famous cartoonist. Among the guests accepting invitations were Mr. and Mrs. Len Klene, Dick McGraw, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Atkinson, Miss Margaret Aitkenhead, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Newell, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hannon, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stockett, Mr. and Mrs. Al Parker, Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Paco Ferro, Sam Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Viarengo, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Weygers, Brett Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoge, Col. Chosen as representatives in the Northern California-Hawaii regional team at the Pebble Beach Rally in July, the team took top honors over 19 other teams in four day competition. A total of 870 points were garnered on dressage, stadium jumping, stable management and cross country riding...an impressive accomplishment when you consider that they were competing with borrowed mounts.

Other team members included Sally Hudson of Carmel, Tina Dunaway of Pebble Beach and Cathy Williams and Milla Handley of Los Altos. Their coach, Tony Vacek of Woodside, Mrs. Jane Dunaway of Pebble Beach and John Love, district commissioner also of Pebble Beach escorted the girls east.

BILL IJAMS, SR. is alive and well in Hilo, Hawaii. The preceding message was relayed to the Phantom Oak Moth via a phone call from the Islands from the Valley-ite who asked that "you tell all of my friends and pals in Carmel Valley hello and that I'm having a good time and finally made it over here. They didn't believe that I would make it...especially Harvey Deal!" (The P.O.M. had received a previous call from the Monterey Airport that a gentleman resembling Bill was seen boarding a Honolulu-bound jet, so with all of the interest we suspect we are somehow implicated in a Tropical Lottery!) Bill is planning to tour Kona and Maui. He had met former Monterey residents, Irene and Bernie McMenamin who now manage the Kona Plantation, and asked to be remembered to all of their family and friends. Serving as Valley ambassador he had exchanged "Howdys" for "Alohas" with Robert Ersal, editor of the Kona Torch and Gwen Van Gaastra, editor of the Orchid Isle newspapers.

THE REDWOOD RECREATION-TRAINING FACILITY recently completed on Via Contenta for the members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department was the site of an official dedication last weekend when Fire Chief Chip Collins, members of the department, and their wives held open house for a number of dignitaries from the area. Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bordonaro (he was general contractor for the Hall-Goodhue designed building), Commissioners of the Carmel Valley Fire Protection District, Morden Buck and Ed Haber; Chief Norman Gehri of the Naval Air Facility, Chief and Mrs. Don Gasperson of the Pacific Grove Department, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Jensen, representing the Carmel Station, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sturges and Mr. and Mrs. James Chubb.

Enjoying refreshments and dancing to the music of the Royals at the housewarming of the new addition to the station (and who should be better qualified to warm a house than the local fire fighters and their belles) were Chief Chip Collins and his wife, Buffie, Bill Parham (social chairman who planned the event) and his wife, Judy and Messrs. and Mmes. THE SALINAS SWIM TEAM won the Tri-County Championship meet with a decisive 595½ points. The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, Monterey Peninsula College and the Monterey Marlin Swim Club hosted the annual event held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the MPC Pool.

Competition included boys and girls eight and under through 17 in varying distances of free, fly, breast, back; also medley relays and individual medleys. Teams and coaches included Ted Bockman with his Cabrillo Threshers; Cary Tremewan with the Monterey Marlins; Dick Beaver and the Santa Cruz Sea Lions; Lester Waddell and Brian Morton with the Carmel Barracudas; Peter Hilander and Morgan Hill; Jim Fontana and Watsonville; and Bob Enea and Salinas.

Alex Rodriguez was meet director assisted by the following officials: Jerry Shaw, announcer; Ann Baldwin, head judge; Dick Shuey, head timer; Bev Harris, stroke and turn; Lisa Hauserman, awards; Harry De Victoria, starter; Bob Miller and Ky Miyamoto, clerks of the course; Pat Mucke, Ann Colburn, Marilyn Shuey, Joan Williamson, Jo Shaw, Blanche Brown, Betty Rodriquez, desk crew; Ann Vucina and Lois Johnson, concession stand; Pat Varrell, program sales; and Virginia Roberts, photographer.

In order to qualify for this, the all-important meet of the season, swimmers were required to perform in cut-off time or better. Entrants from the Carmel Barracudas included:

Curtis Jones, Sandy Moore, Mary Harris, Jeff Hogans, Lisa Burnett, Susan McCreery, Greg Miller, Chaco Mohler, Christine Bottaro, Marianne Gillette, Kathryn Rudolph, Garth Hattan, Kim Jones, Elaine Bennett, Lisa Vandervort, George Morrice, Kevin Lord, Beth McCreery, Daniel Hunt, Steve Swibbs, Randy Miller, Bill Whitesides, Jim Dickenson, Adrienne Jones and Pam Gayman.

Placing next to the victorious Salinas team was Monterey with 489 points; Santa Cruz with 372; Cabrillo 265; Morgan Hill 80½; Watsonville 75½ and Carmel 61.

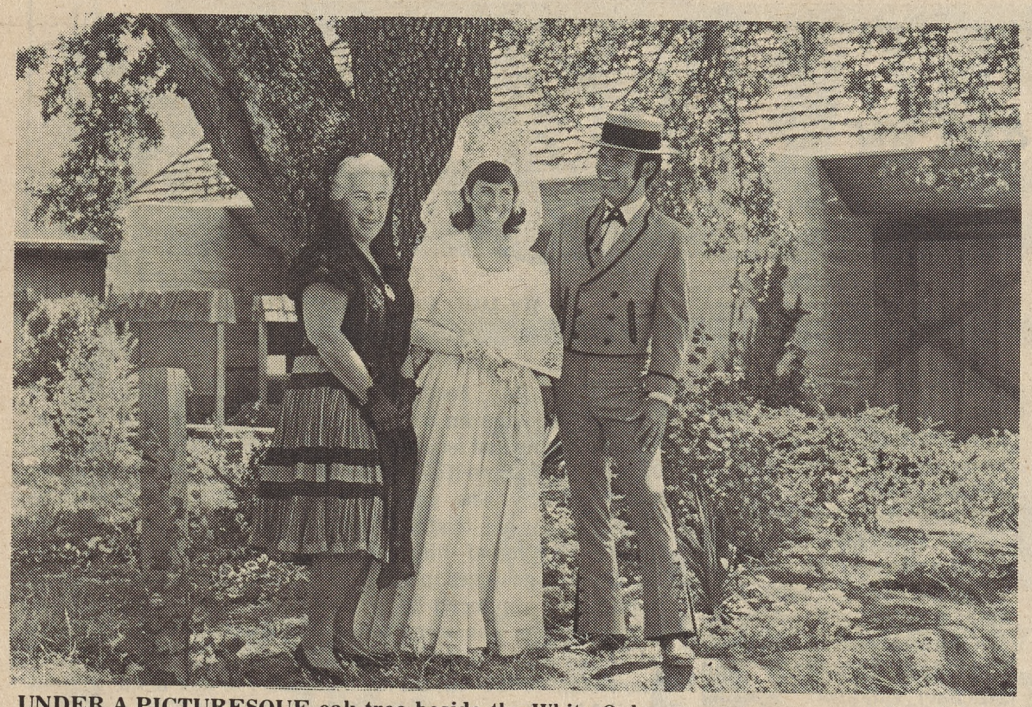
CARMEL VALLEY'S Fancyfoot Farm had 3 entries in the winner's circle at the second annual Appaloosa Show sponsored by the Salinas Valley Appaloosa club last weekend. Dr. F.C. Burleson accepted awards for Sorita Mae B. who was judged first in Fillies of 1968; Miss Fancyfoot who placed second in Mares of 1967; and fifth for an unnamed colt in the class of Colts for 1970.



UNDER A PICTURESQUE oak tree beside the White Oaks Theater Mrs. Adolph Friedenthal extends a cordial invitation from the Valley to Susie Lang and Ernie Osuna to attend as honored guests the Community Center sponsored El Baile De Los Amigos to be held at the theater September 4. Susie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lang of Rancho Don Juan was the lovely La Favorita of 1970 and reigned over the 200th birthday party for Monterey. Senorita Lang's dashing escort is Ernie Osuna, official ambassador of goodwill for the Old Monterey Bicentennial.

A BANNER "FIVE BOYS WIDE" was hung last week at the corner of Pilot and Carmel Valley Road proclaiming the El Baile De Los Amigos to be sponsored September 4 at the White Oaks Theater. The costumed affair will benefit the center. Hook and ladder for the hanging was provided by the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department and the Banner-Boys are offsprings of the Center Board members, Peter Lyon, and Mrs. Dale Buche who is chairman of the Ball. Left to right: Kurt Buche, David Lyon, Bill Lyon, Bobbie Lyon, Brent Buche and Brock Buche.

Sneak preview of next year's Volkswagen sedan.

*Suggested retail price West Coast P.O.E.

Local taxes and other dealer delivery charges, if any, additional.

(Low Cost Lease Purchase Plan Available)

If you just bought this year's VW sedan, congratulations.

Next year nobody will know you're not driving next year's VW sedan.

Because next year's beetle will look like this year's beetle. (What else?) And every other beetle we've ever made.

So it will be just as hard to tell a 20-year-old VW from a brand new VW.

Buying a car that doesn't go out of style has still another benefit: you don't take a beating when you sell it.

A VW depreciates very slowly.

But even though next year's Volkswagen won't be different, it will be different.

We've made some nice improvements. As usual. (Over 2200 since 1949.)

So in next year's VW you can look forward to a new ——— and a bigger ———— and a different—

Well, you wouldn't want us to give away all our little secrets, would you?

What kind of sneaky preview would that be?

BY MRS. B.C. FORRESTER

Elizabeth Ray, food editor of The Queen Magazine of London, recounts an incident of her recent trip to Vienna, Austria, in the last issue: With her husband and son she was visiting Lippizzano Riding School on what happened to be her son's birthday. She and the boy had already entered the stables when her husband called her. Returning to the entrance she found him "making what appeared to be threatening gestures to the cashier, who was cowering away apparently convinced he was about to be throttled."

The cashier was wearing an elegant tie, decorated with white horses, and her husband was trying, with a limited knowledge of the Austrian vernacular, to ask if the tie was available only to the Riding School staff, or if he could buy one as an extra birthday present for his son. When this was eventually made clear to the cashier, he told them the tie did not come from Vienna, but from their own country, England, where it was an advertisement for White Horse Whiskey!

Mrs. Ray did a very thorough job of visiting restaurants and gathering recipes in Vienna, some of which information I give you below:

"Dishes which appear on every hotel and restaurant menu are Tafelspitz, which is boiled beef; Goulash, of some kind; much Veal; all kinds of offal, such as brain fritters, sweetbreads; calves liver fried with onions; stuffed peppers; turtle soup, called Lady Curzon soup usually; cakes and confections of many varieties. One of these desserts she particularly enjoyed was:

CHESTNUT RICE: (Kastanien Reis) which is not a rice pudding, but a sweetened puree of chestnuts, forced through a coarse sieve so that it comes out like rice in appearance and which gives it the deceptive name it bears. It is served with a huge amount of whipped cream, or cream whip could be used here.

TOPFENPALATSCHINKEN: (Pancakes with cream cheese filling)

Prepare the filling some hours before using it by draining ¼ pound of cream cheese over a sieve. Beat into this ¼ pint of thick cream (the Viennese would use sour cream) with some vanilla flavoring and a little sugar or sultanas but not both, which would make it too sweet. This should make a fairly solid not liquid mass.

Make pancakes in usual manner, very thin, and keep them warm over a pan of boiling water, flat, not folded. Lay the filling down the center of each pancake, roll the pancake up and place in buttered ovenproof baking dish. When all pancakes are in the dish scatter a little sugar over them and put into hot oven, so that they can become really hot before they can go dry. If the oven is hot enough to burn the sugar a little this is an added refinement.

AUSTRIAN GOULASH

1 pound onions, sliced thin
1 tablespn salad oil
1 teaspn salt
1 teaspn vinegar
1 cup red wine
1 teaspn caraway seeds
½ teaspn Marjoram
2 tspns paprika
2 pounds beef in 1" cubes

Saute onions in oil until tender and golden; add caraway seeds, marjoram, salt and paprika moistened with vinegar, and mix well. Add meat and brown on all sides. Pour in wine and simmer for 2 hours or until meat is tender. Add water sparingly during cooking, if necessary. Serve over buttered noodles.

BRAISED SWEETBREAD IN CREAM

4 tblspns butter ½ cup each finely diced celery, onions and carrots. Herb bouquet of 4 sprigs parsely, ½ bay leaf, ¼ tspn thyme, tied in clean cheesecloth.
A flameproof casserole just large enough to hold sweetbreads in one layer
2 pounds sweetbreads, soaked and trimmed previously salt and pepper ¼ cup white vermouth
1 cup beef or chicken stock or canned beef bouillon
Preheat oven to 325 deg.

Melt butter in casserole, stir in diced vegetables, cover casserole and cook slowly for about 10 minutes, until vegetables are tender not browned. Season sweetbreads with salt and pepper and arrange over vegetables, basting with juices in casserole. Bury herb bouquet among sweetbreads; cover casserole and cook slowly 5 minutes; turn sweetbreads on other side, baste, cover and cook 5 minutes more. If more than ¼ cup of juice exudes in casserole drain it out, boil down rapidly to 2 tablespns and pour back over sweetbreads. Pour in wine and enough stock or bouillon barely to cover. Bring to simmer, cover the casserole and bake in lower middle of preheated oven for 45 minutes.

Remove sweetbreads to hot serving dish, rapidly boil down cooking liquid until almost syrupy, pour in 1 cup heavy cream. Simmer a few minutes until lightly thickened, correct seasoning, adding a bit of lemon juice if necessary. Pour sauce and vegetables over sweetbreads. Garnish with parsley. Accompany with peas or spinach.

Tularcitos School has 2 attractive new teachers

Second graders at Tularcitos are going to find that good news comes in pairs this year.

During the summer two new second grade teachers have been hired to fill a big gap in the Tularcitos staff, and both combine wide experience with warm enthusiasm for their new assignment.

Teamed together in rooms 8 and 9 will be Mrs. Elaine Kunihiro and Mrs. Marcy Cook, who will be assisted by two teacher aides.

Mrs. Kunihiro and her husband, Capt. Dean M. Kunihiro, moved to Marina last May when he received an assignment to the Naval Postgraduate School, where he will be studying for a master's degree in nuclear affects engineering.

Before coming here, she had taught in Los Angeles schools in the second, third and sixth grades, interspersed with some teaching in North Carolina when her husband was stationed at Ft. Bragg.

Sparkling and petite, she's the sort of teacher who has enjoyed summertime jobs supervising at playgrounds "because you get to see children in a different light. It's really fascinating, and so much fun."

This week she in concluding her work as a Head Start teacher at the Del Mar School in Marina, working with 20 children and their parents.

BACK FROM GREECE

Her willowy blonde co-teacher, Marcy Cook, is deeply bronzed from two years spent in Greece, where her husband, Robert, was principal and superintendent of the International School in Thessaloniki and she taught math, science and girls' P.E.

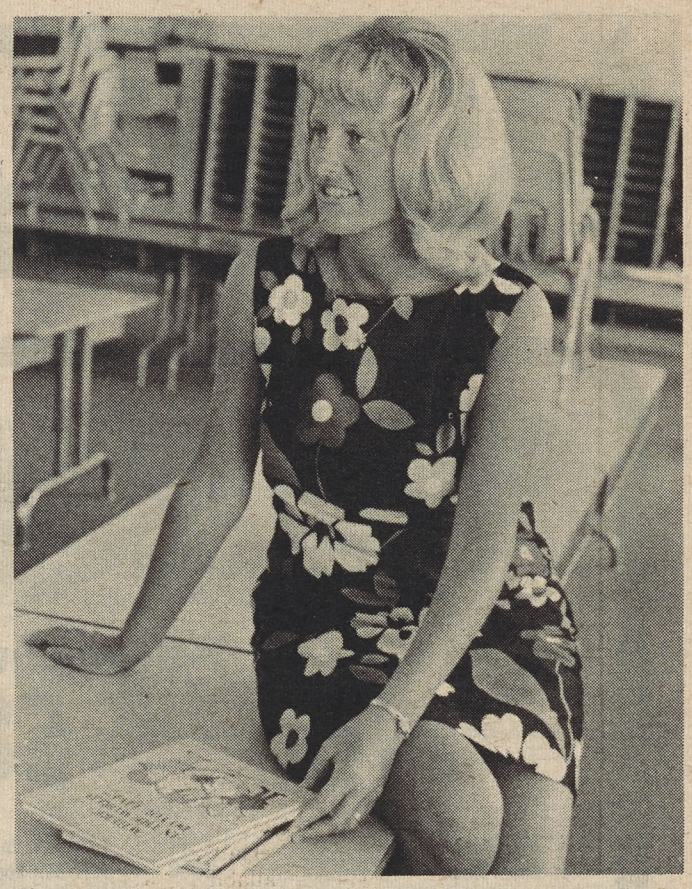
The Cooks flew back to the United States in July and he is starting out this week as principal of Robert Downs School in Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Cook grew up in Culver City and graduated from U.C. Santa Barbara. She taught the sixth grade in Sunnyvale for three years and earned an M.A. at Stanford. She is just a few units short of having a general administration credential.

While teaching in Greece, she developed a completely individualized math program, and also attended a conference in Tehran which focused on team teaching and individual instruction.

The two new teachers will work closely together before school starts to go over existing materials and plan their joint program. They will start out with the reading groupings set up by Tim Stephens last June, "but all this will be flexible as we go along," Mrs. Kunihiro said. "We're both very interested in individual work, and as we get to know each child, we will be doing a lot on an individual basis."

MRS. ELAINE KUNIHIRO



MRS. MARCY COOK

Mrs. Bliesner joins Carmelo School staff

With its enrollment expected to increase again this year, Carmelo School is adding a half-time teacher to help in the Alpha Unit. Mrs. Alys Bliesner, a graduate of San Francisco State College, will augment the regular Alpha team during the mornings.

Principal Phil Smith said the unit will also have two teacher aides "to give us greater flexibility and enable us to maintain the quality of our program."

All of last year's teachers are returning to Carmelo, and the Alpha and Beta teams will remain the same.

Carmel High School to start football practice Saturday

The football season gets underway at Carmel High August 22 at 10 a.m. with issuance of equipment followed Monday by training sessions.

Varsity coaches Jason Harbert, Monty Feekes and Dick Charles will put the team—including eight returning lettermen—through double sessions at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. until school begins Sept. 2.

Coaches Dick Lawitzke and Bob Brooks will meet the junior varsity team for equipment checkout Aug. 22 at 2 p.m. and freshman coaches Howard Sanborn and Lowell Battcher checkout gear Aug. 29 at 8 a.m.

Physical examinations for all players will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the school gymnasium. All boys interested are invited to try out for the teams.

The Padres' first game will be at the Pacific Grove Jamboree Sept. 11.

Three new teachers at Carmel High

Carmel High School will have three new staff members when school opens September 2.

Ronald L. Nicholson, who has taught mathematics in Rialto for the past eight years, will develop a special remedial math program for high school students. Nicholson received his master's degree from Oregon State University this year.

Susan Williams, a graduate of the University of California at Davis, will be a home economics teacher. She did her student teaching in home economics and art at Hiram Johnson High School in Sacramento.

Joining the counseling staff at the high school will be Mrs. Carol Hunziker, a new arrival from Tucson, Ariz. Mrs. Hunziker is a graduate of the University of Arizona and received a master's degree in counseling from Arizona State University at Tempe, Ariz.

HIGH SCHOOL REGISTRATION

Teenagers new to the Carmel area, who have not yet registered at Carmel High School, are asked to register between 8:30 a.m. and noon any morning before Aug. 28. They should register with one of the counselors at the school, John Graham, Thomas Wood or Mrs. Carol Hunziker.

There will be an orientation session for new students and freshmen in Brey Hall at the high school on Monday, Aug. 31, at 1 p.m. A tour of the campus will be included in the orientation, which will be followed by a free swim in the Carmel High School pool.

Students who will drive automobiles to school will be required to have a parking permit. Permits cost $1 and will be available when school starts.

School opens for all students with an assembly at the football field bleachers at 8:10 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 2. After this meeting, students will be issued class schedules and a full school day will follow.

Accident trend continues on Carmel Valley Road

Several persons were injured in a sudden rash of automobile accidents in Carmel Valley on Sunday.

Most seriously hurt was Peter B. Felice of 1000 Sanborn Rd., Salinas, who lost control of a jeep he was driving along a dirt road on the Tularcitos Ranch at 5:40 a.m. The jeep went off the road and rolled down a 32-foot embankment, landing on top of Felice.

Felice was taken to Community Hospital in Carmel by A-1 Ambulance of Salinas.

Three other accidents occurred within an hour and a half period Sunday evening.

Donald Lewis of Esquiline Road was arrested on a charge of drunken driving after his pickup truck overturned on Carmel Valley Road near Holman Road at 10:30 p.m. The Carmel Valley Fire Department was called to hose gasoline off the road.

Lewis, who refused medical attention, told the CHP that he lost control of his truck when another car suddenly stopped in front of him.

At 10:52 p.m. a car driven by Stephen Northwood Delano, 20, of San Mateo plunged down a 10-foot gully on Los Laureles Grade north of the McDonald Ranch entrance. The California Highway Patrol said Delano was driving too fast for road conditions and lost control going around a curve. Neither Delano nor the passenger in his car, Jeffrey Hawkins, 20, required medical treatment.

DEPUTIES HURT

Less than an hour later two Monterey County sheriff's deputies were injured when their patrol car went out of control while trying to avoid an accident.

Deputies Richard Helton and Patrick DuVal Jr., both of Monterey, were westbound on Carmel Valley Road when an east-bound car driven by Keith Howell of Carmel Valley started a left turn in front of them at Laureles Grade.

Helton applied his brakes, veered to the right and missed Howell's car but struck a raised traffic island.

The Carmel Valley Fire Department's Red Cross ambulance took Helton and DuVal to Community Hospital where they were released after receiving treatment for minor injuries.

Also on Sunday, the fire department first aid crew treated Terry Hagar, 7, of Carmel for a cut right knee.

At 7:45 a.m. Tuesday the ambulance transported Paul Anthony of 27 Flight Road to Community Hospital as a medical emergency.

How Middle School classes are scheduled

Children moving from grammar schools into Carmel Middle School this September will find classes scheduled on a different basis from what they have known before.

The Middle School operates on 20 minute time modules, rather than having a flat 40 minutes for each subject for eight periods a day. All classes have at least two modules, language arts has three, and some courses have four modules on a cycle basis.

There are double periods, or longer blocks of time, in language arts, social science, physical education, science and the applied arts. These longer periods are scheduled to fall on different days of the week.

All Middle School students are offered French or Spanish, with the opportunity to take German or Latin as an elective. There is also a wide variety of other electives offered on a cycle basis to give students more options.

Newcomers to Middle School will also notice one other feature different from all other schools. The only time a class bell rings is at the beginning and end of the school day.

River School to have two new teachers

Fred A. Pitts, the new principal of River School, will have two new teachers on his staff this fall.

Teaching the fourth grade will be Raymon A. Wilson, who holds a master's degree from the United States International University in San Diego. He was a student teacher at the third, fourth and fifth grade levels in San Diego last year.

Coming in to teach the first grade is Lee Ann Schweitzer, a graduate of Pennsylvania State University. Miss Schweitzer lives in Monterey.

Psychologist joins Carmel schools staff

. . . more help for the individual child

By PAT GRIFFITH

Probably not one parent in ten has more than a vague idea of what the Director of Pupil Personnel Services does. Yet for scores, possibly hundreds of children in the Carmel school district, he may be the person who makes the difference between an unhappy, frustrating classroom situation and a learning experience rich in individual achievement and self-satisfaction.

Dr. Richard K. Hawkins, a graduate of Stanford with a doctorate in school psychology and counseling from UCLA, was hired this summer as Carmel's new Director of Pupil Personnel Services.

His role is as broad as the title implies, but basically he sees it as bridging the gap between psychology, which deals with an individual, and teaching, with its emphasis on a group of individuals learning certain specific information.

"We're trying to avoid the image typically associated with the school psychologist," he explained last week. "By that I mean that many school psychologists have been what I would call psychometrists. They give tests. They test for gifted children, or handicapped children, or children with problems. They say what the tests show, and that's about it.

"My concern is much broader, with learning environments as a whole, rather than just children having trouble. I see myself as a problem-solver.

"The traditional psychologist's image is someone working on minds. I don't work on children's minds. I hope to sit down with teachers and parents to help a child who isn't fully benefitting from his school experience.

"In the past, the typical teacher asks for help by asking that testing be done for a certain child. This year, I hope teachers will ask for help to solve a problem. It may require a test, but it may not.

"For instance, I'm expecially interested in the side effects of instruction, such as the emphasis put on testing and grades, and how this affects the self-image of the child, and how successful he feels about himself.

"We know that sometimes there has been a great emphasis on tests, and that some children suffer from this. Generally we find that learning difficulties are accompanied by a poor self-image.

CHILD COMES FIRST

"Because a child's feelings of successfulness are awfully important, this is one of the things I hope to look at quite a lot, by visiting classrooms and seeing what is going on, and working with teachers on both general and specific problems."

Some types of testing will certainly continue, he emphasizes, particularly to identify "gifted" children or those who would benefit from classes for the educationally handicapped.

Children put into educationally handicapped classes, he explains, are not "low ability" students, but rather children who need a boost to get over certain difficulties. It is assumed they will spend only a limited amount of time in the E.H. class before rejoining their regular class grouping.

Dr. Hawkins also has a special interest in the motor-perceptual development of pre-school and primary school children.

"While some children learn symbols automatically," he said, "those who don't, need some sort of exercise other than simple drill. They may need to develop their sense of sight and sound and touch to execute the task required.

"I hope to help unravel these complicated learning styles and develop techniques and methods to get over the problem...

"We still tend to think that all kids should learn to read out of the same primer. Yet some children need different approaches, and have different abilities to make their sensory equipment work for them.

"Traditionally most learning is auditory. Then it transfers to visual in reading. But for the child whose visual skills aren't developed enough, there needs to be a special program. Sometimes this means strengthening a weak skill, sometimes it means working around it."

HELP FOR PARENTS, TOO

Dr. Hawkins added that if he had the time he would like to give evening courses for parents to help them understand the learning process and how best to assist their children.

"I'm never sure just exactly how much effort the schools should put out to teach parents," he said, "but I do think it can be very helpful to know something about behavior modification, for instance. It may not be the complete answer to a situation, but it has a lot of application."

He is also in favor of the "Parent Effectiveness Training" programs that have been offered locally, and feels they, too, offer valuable insight for any parent.

Dr. Hawkins will work closely with John Frykman, the district's new community counselor who specializes in individual counseling and drug problems.

They expect to work together on in-service training programs for teachers, and to meet with groups of young people interested in discussing various "value issues." Both agree that a critical need of many young people today is to learn how to solve problems and to find a satisfying life style based on something other than the drug culture.

Before moving with his wife and two-year-old daughter to a home on Paso Mediano in Carmel Valley, Dr. Hawkins was director of guidance, special education and the educational services center for the Roswell Independent Schools in Roswell, N. Mex. He supervised a staff of 20 counselors and four nurses working with a school district of 10,000 children.

Like Frykman, who gave up the position of director of the Drug Treatment Center in the Haight-Ashbury in San Francisco to come here, Dr. Hawkins feels Carmel offers several positive factors. Because the school district is small, he will be able to work closely with teachers, parents and children doing what he likes best—solving problems. And he feels the atmosphere here encourages a look at the broader educational picture as well, the "learning environment" which he considers a key to individual self-fulfillment.

"There were piles of jobs available where they want you to test all day. The trouble is, test results are usually just put in a file and don't solve or change anything. I want to be of real help and solve real problems. That's why I'm here.

"And incidentally, I'm open to parents who want to call me, anytime."

Eight new teachers at Carmel Middle School

Six teachers new to the Carmel School District will join the staff at Carmel Middle School this year, plus two transfering from other schools.

The transferees are Warren Fishburn from Tularcitos, who will teach Spanish, and Nick Zanides from Carmel High School, who will join the language arts team.

The language arts department will have three other teachers new to Middle School.

Mrs. Anita Hellie, a graduate of Concordia College in Moorhead, Minn., will join the school following four years of experience in developmental and remedial reading and junior high English in Kenyon, Minn.

Also new in the language arts department will be Mrs. Suzanne McGuane, an English major from Alvernia College in Reading, Pa. She has had a semester's experience as a sixth grade teacher in Mechanicsburg, Pa.

Also joining the department will be Mrs. Kit Stebbins, who has been a fifth and sixth grade teacher for the past four years. She received both her B.A. and M.A. from the University of Redlands.

Mrs. Brenda Guy will be a new home economics teacher. A graduate of the University of Kansas, she comes from Lawrence, Kan., where she taught home economics at Central Junior High School for the past two years.

Teaching Spanish will be Gail Sherman, an intern teacher from the University of California, who is a one-year replacement for John Waldron, who is on sabbatical leave. She received her B.A. from San Jose State College this year, and has done extra work in Guadalajara, Mexico.

Mrs. Patricia Lee, who substituted several times last year at Middle School, will be returning in Spetember as a regular teacher in the girls' physical education department. She received her teaching credential from California State College at Hayward, and was a student teacher in Fremont before coming here.

The counseling department at Middle School will be given a lift with the return of Jay Criddle from sabbatical leave and the assignment of Mrs. Rod Dresser, who taught English last year, to work with him.

Middle School principal Orville C. Rogers said that once again volunteer assistance from parents can be used in almost every area, particularly in the library. Anyone interested in helping at the school should contact him at the Middle School office.

New students register at Middle School

All sixth, seventh and eighth grade students who are new to the Carmel school district should register between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Middle School office this week or next.

This applies only to students who have moved into the District recently or have not previously attended grammar school here. The one exception is for sixth graders residing in the Big Sur area, who may attend Captain Cooper School if they wish.

JEANNIE M. HUGHES as Annie Oakley and Rick Humm as rival sharpshooter Frank Butler have the lead roles in "Annie Get Your Gun" at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant. Their duet of "An Old Fashioned Wedding" is a new number added to the show by Irving Berlin for its recent Broadway revival, in addition to old favorites like "No Business Like Show Business," "You Can't Get A Man With A Gun" and "Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better." The popular musical may be seen nightly except Monday and Tuesday at the Studio through mid-September. Photo - Richard Amrhein

Beethoven Festival Oct. 17 at Mission

A Beethoven festival commemorating both the 200th anniversary of the Carmel Mission Basilica and Ludwig von Beethoven's 200th birthday is scheduled October 17 in Carmel.

Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" will be presented by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra and Monterey Peninsula Choral Society, augmented by the Sacramento Chorale, in the basilica courtyard at 3 p.m.

The work will be conducted by Haymo Taeuber, conductor of the Monterey Symphony Orchestra, and will feature soprano Meg Broughton, contralto Glenna DeWeese, tenor David Hall-Sundquist and bass James Tippey.

Taeuber, an Austrian, was guest conductor with the Vienna Symphony Orchestra for 20 years and has appeared with orchestras in London, Stockholm, Strasbourg, Lisbon and Brussels.

Taeuber was the key figure in rebuilding the Vienna Boys Choir after World War II. He also organized the symphony orchestra of Tehran, Iran and founded the philharmonic choir of Calgary, Canada.

The festival, part of the Old Monterey Bicentennial, focuses attention of Carmel Mission, the famous monument to the great Conquistador of the Cross, Padre Junipero Serra.

The stone church was erected between 1793 and 1797 by Padre Lausen as desired by Padre Serra. The structure features inward curving walls and a tower of Moorish design.

The church and quadrangle gradually declined into a state of ruin from which it was rescued by Father Casanova in 1884. Further restoration took place in 1931 under the direction of Harry Downie, present curator of the mission.

In 1960 Pope John granted Bishop Willinger's petition that Carmel Mission as a historical shrine be raised to the status of "minor basilica." It now stands as one of two basilicas in the western United States.

WANTED: WHITE ELEPHANTS!

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department reminds Valley-ites that they are looking for merchandise to sell at their Flea Market on September 19. Items may be taken to Swan's Furniture Store, the General Store, or the Fire Station where Auxiliary members will claim, sort and mark the "treasures."

CV WOMEN'S CLUB

The Carmel Valley Women's Club will open their fall season with a luncheon meeting September 2 at the Rancho Del Monte Resort and Hotel on Country Club Drive. A social hour will be held from 12:30 with luncheon served at 1:00. A fashion show is planned poolside for the ladies coordinated and commentated by Dorothy Stevens of the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Reservation deadline is August 27 and those planning to attend are asked to phone Mrs. Kenneth Korver, 659-4054 or Mrs. Gordon Harlander, 659-2167. Guests are welcome to attend.

Valley to have new dress shop

A third Cinderella shop locally will open September 5, the new branch to be in Valley Hills Shopping Center. Owners are Mr. and Mrs. David Hughes of Carmel, who purchased the Cinderella Shop on Ocean Avenue in April of 1969. Last February they bought The Mason's on Dolores between Fifth and Sixth, establishing a new shop called Cinderella's Hayloft.

The new Valley store will occupy the north end of the recently completed building near the Thunderbird bookstore. 1800 feet of floor space will be devoted to women's fashions, with emphasis on pants and tops and the kind of casual clothes preferred in the Valley. The shop's decor will be informal and in tune with country surroundings, with a green and white color plan and wicker furniture. Hours will be from 11 to 5:30 Monday through Saturday.

Before coming to this area, Hughes' merchandising career included posts as vice president with both the Nieman Marcus store and with Peck & Peck stores nationally.

Community Theatre 'Oscar' Awards Ceremony Sept. 9

Nominations for the 1970 "Oscar" awards for Community Theatre players were announced last week. Awards will be presented to the winners at the Second Annual Awards Banquet of the theatre group to be held at Holiday Inn (on the beach), Monterey, on September 9.

A panel of anonymous judges, not connected with the theatre, announced the list of nominees through the theatre office, and will also select the winners, according to William Scholefield, Community Theatre president. Members of the judging panel operated independently of each other, Scholefield said, and relayed word to him that each had attended at least one performance of each of the theatre's eight 1969-70 productions.

Awards will be made in three production categories (comedy, mystery drama, and musical comedy) and will be presented to actors and actresses in both lead and supporting roles

In addition, Scholefield said, awards will be presented to the best actress of the year, best actor, and best production. "Angel Awards" will be presented for the first time this year to individuals, not necessarily actors, who have in some special way helped the cause of little theatre in the Monterey County area.

The Frohman Award for outstanding service to the Community Theatre over an extended period of time will also be presented at the awards ceremony.

Members of the public are cordially invited to attend the awards banquet, Scholefield said. A "no-host" cocktail hour at 7 p.m. with dinner at 8, and the ceremonies beginning at 9 are the scheduled events. Tickets are $10, and reservations should be made to the theatre box office at 624-2669, or by mail to P. O. Box AL, Carmel 93921.

THE PHONE BOOTH

It's getting harder all the time to find an isolated hide-away, but now you can still get away from it all, yet keep in touch with the rest of the world. Last year the Bell System added a dozen new places to its overseas communications network including the Admiralty, Gilbert and Chatham Islands in the South Pacific.

In 1927, the year Lindbergh flew solo across the Atlantic, overseas communications consisted of a single radio-telephone circuit between New York City and London. Today you can reach 97% of the world's telephones in more than 200 countries and territories.

Registration for the November 3 general election closes September 10. If you'll be 21 years old by election day or are new in the community, you must register to be eligible to vote.

A new law makes it unnecessary for voters who've moved within a county to re-register. Such voters can now notify the County Clerk or Registrar of Voters by mail of their change of address and he will provide the necessary forms to be filled out. (Notices must be postmarked no later than Sept. 10.) You'll also be able to get these forms at our Business Office at 404 Franklin Street in Monterey where we will again be providing voter registration facilities for your convenience.

United Giving reminds you: Invest in people and we all benefit. Help those who need it most by giving your fair share the United Way.

Sunrise to Sunset

The plaintive strains of the bagpipes are all but gone, but the zest and skill lingers on. Once again, the Lockheed Bagpipe Band and its Scottish Highland Dancers exhibited an outstanding array of talent. Mr. Stan Patterson, president and leader of this fine group, took great pride in explaining the Scottish traditions as represented in their music and ethnic dances. It was, in the real sense, a cultural event.

As the people streamed in, following the footsteps of our eager pipers, it was reminiscent of a piper of another day. Many of the young children apparently were followers, unaccompanied by parents. Let me mention that children are always welcome at Forest, but we are very anxious that all children have parental supervision. Pole climbing, tree climbing, and roof scaling all have their place, but not during Forest Theater concerts on Sunday afternoons.

We are pleased to announce our seventh concert of the summer season. Nancy Ness Bowman will present her Opera Workshop on Sunday, August 23, at 2 p.m., at Mountain View and Santa Rita. This oft-repeated program heralds one of our finest local groups and I take my hat off to Mrs. Bowman (absolutely no relation) for her blithe spirit and enthusiastic efforts in behalf of her students.

Three more concerts will be presented at Forest this summer. Following the Beyer String Trio and the Consortium Antiquum, the rousing music of the Fort Ord Army Band will wind up the 1970 summer season on September 13.

The two remaining events scheduled for August at Sunset Center are both unusual and excitingly different. The San Francisco troupe, "The Grass Roots Experience," will present "A Day of Absence" on Friday, August 21, at 8:00 p.m. This all-black troupe will present a Minstrel Show in reverse, having white faces. Their performance should prove to be both stimulating and thought-provoking in a humorous vein.

And don't forget the 30th of August. This will be "a really big show"—our own Monterey Film Festival award winners will be shown that Sunday evening in Sunset Theater. Mark this date on your calendar as a must!

Watch my column for future fall programs at Sunset Center. Due to the heavy activities on September 5, "Artists in Action" will be deleted for the first Saturday as regularly scheduled.

I would personally like to thank each and every one of you for your enthusiastic support of our programming both here and at Forest Theater. Mrs. Melvin and her volunteers of the Arts Coordinating Council will be on duty in the outer office at Sunset to keep you posted on the month's activities in this area. As a matter of fact, her master calendar should be of great assistance to all program planners, regardless of the activity planned.

See you next Sunday.

TALENT ABOUNDS in the dining room at Carmel Valley Manor, where these student waitresses have been awarded scholarships from the Manor. A $20,000 scholarship fund was established at the Manor in 1968 by an anonymous resident, and other residents have since added to the fund. Awarded grants for the coming year are, left to right, Victoria Addington, who plans to study dentistry at MPC; Patricia Dillon, who will major in English at MPC; Jan Jaseau, who will take a general education course at MPC; Nancy Meadows, who is currently enrolled at MPC and plans to enter Humboldt State and major in physical education; and Etta Rae Black, another MPC student who hopes to attend San Jose State and major in anthropology. Not pictured is a sixth scholarship winner, Mary Elizabeth Fries, who is an art major at MPC.

VISION CARE

BY DR. R.E. MARLIN
(consulting optometrist)

Glasses Relieve These Kind of Headaches

Contrary to general belief, eyestrain does not always cause a direct pain in the eye, but frequently manifests itself in the form of an ache or pain in other parts of the head.

Frontal or Temporal Headaches—pains in the forehead or just above the ear. Such pains may be completely relieved and prevented by wearing the proper kind of glasses.

Occipital Headaches—pains in the lower part of the back of the head—generally due to prolonged accomodative strain of the eyes.

Eyeball Headaches—pains in the eye are almost wholly due to defects of vision and can be promptly relieved by wearing the proper prescription glasses.

No medicine of any kind will cure headaches caused by eyestrain. The only remedy is to relieve the strain. If you are one of the thousands who suffer from "eye headaches," consult your optometrist.

Send in your questions.
